

Cooperative Parenting Seminar DIVORCE IS DIFFICULT. WE CAN HELP.

Guiding Parents to Amicable & Effective Co-Parenting or Parallel Parenting

This seminar series is open to all parties, to include those experiencing high-conflict in their divorce.

- The process of divorce requires you redefine your relationship with your former spouse as well as help your child cope with the separation of the family.
- This seminar will offer valuable tools for shielding your child from conflict as well as your own struggle with the loss of your marriage.
- This seminar series is designed to have both parents present during the classes. This will enable you to hear each other's perspectives and come up with solutions in a practical manner. (A sole parent can attend but both attending is preferred.)
- Topics will include:
 - Learning to be child-focused
 - Allowing your child to love both parents
 - Changing your role as a parent
 - Choosing how to make your own life better after divorce
 - Managing your anger
 - Taking control of conflict
 - Negotiating agreements with your co-parent
 - Viewing co-parenting as a dedication to your child's future
